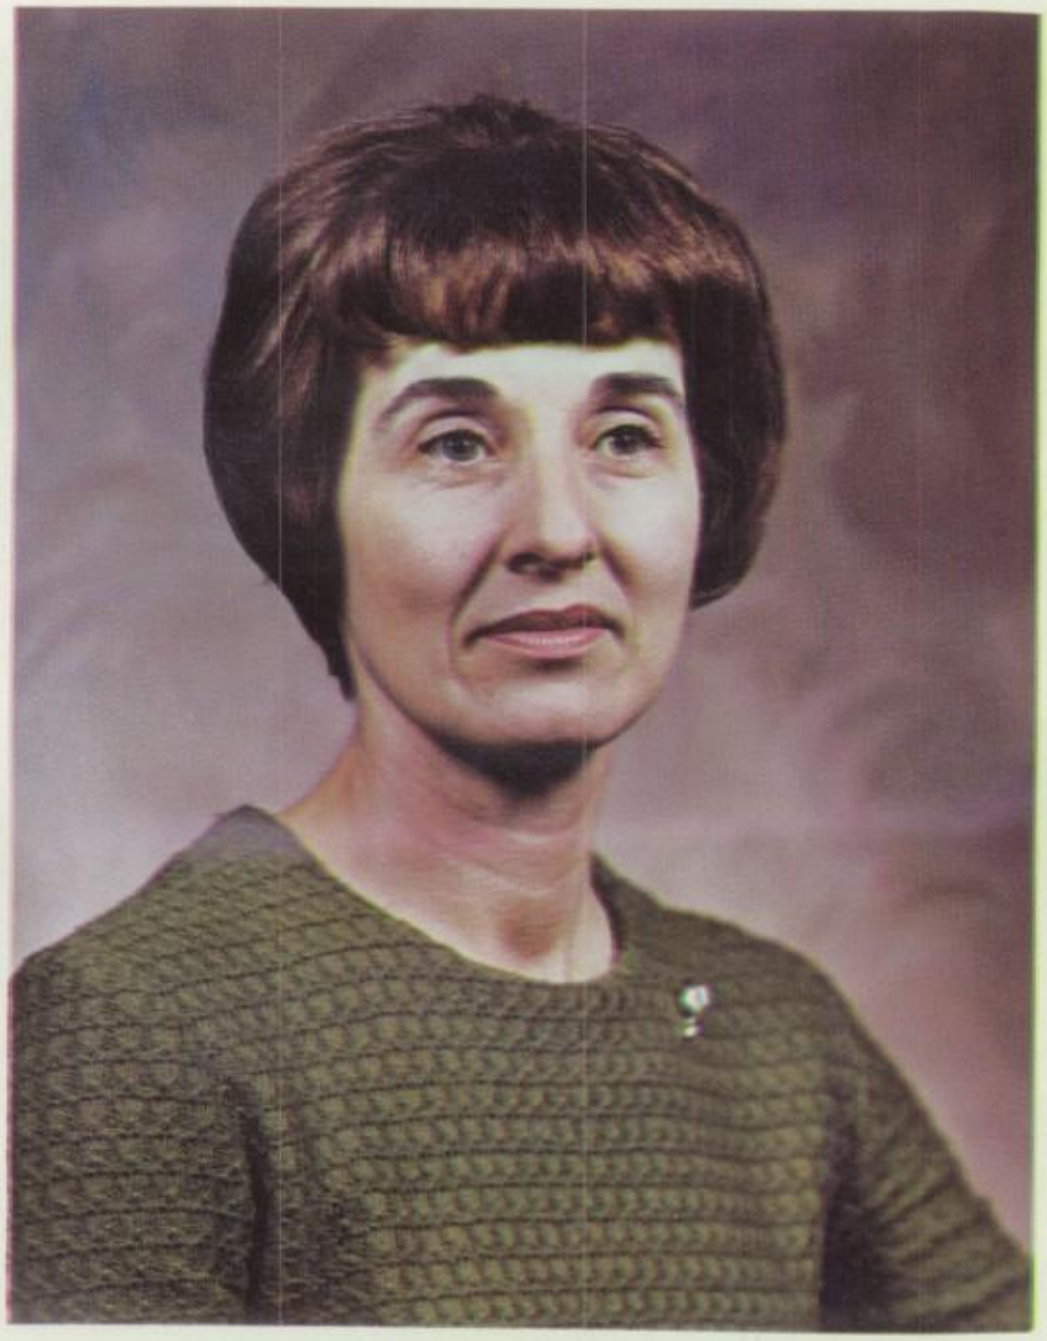
DEDICATION



We wish to show our appreciation to one who is worthy and congenial and who has aided us in many ways. Her guidance and assistance have been denied to none of us.

For four years of faithful service and unwavering loyalty as school secretary, the publications class dedicates its 1967 Ormazd to Miss Erlene I. McKee.

Foreword

It is with much pleasure that the 1967 edition of the Ormazd is presented to you. Ormazd, the title of our yearbook, is defined as the essence of the forces of good overcoming the forces of evil. The book was so entitled by the class of 1941 when the world was rapidly committing itself to a great struggle between these forces.

This 1967 edition is the result of many hours of cooperative planning and work by the publications class. To condense a school year into these few pages is naturally impossible, but we have attempted to chronicle the events and activities of the year, and to capture in pictures some of the people who had a part in the story of the 1966-1967 school year.

Our job is now finished, and it is your turn to examine our product. We trust we have achieved what we set out to do and that this yearbook will become a cherished reminder of your school days at Zalma.

Mary Lou Dinkel

Ormazd Editor

In Memorian

Mr. Fred Stilts, formerly teacher of Zalma High School, has bequeathed us memories of his great courage and good humor, his great skill as a teacher of mathematics, his talent for lasting friendships.

The tales of his conquest of a polio handicap have now become legends. Mr. Stilts cultivated his fine mind without neglecting his fields. He found joy in living. Students and a large circle of friends mourn him.

Congratulations to the publication class and sponsor for this fine yearbook. I have seen much of the material making up this publication and know that it will be one which all of us associated with the school can look at with pride. My sincere hope is that you seniors may move on to successful ventures and that all undergraduates may continue to improve that which has been done before them.

Sincerely yours,

Cletes O. Cato

You know that when you shut your eyes walking becomes very difficult. Dead objects seem suddenly to come to life, springing into your path, tripping you or digging at your ribs, and sometimes slapping at your ears or poking your eyes. Harmless things become hazards and your progress is impeded and slowed down to halting, uncertain halfsteps, each of which may lead to peril.

You go to school to learn to open the eyes of your mind. Going through life with a mind enexposed to the light and the beauty of creation, blinded by ignorance, blighted through starvation, and repressed by lack of exercise, one may stumble to the grave without ever having really lived.

Open up your mind. Let in the light.

Congratulations on your fine yearbook.

Sincerely yours,

Paul G. Hutchings

The End of the Beginning

These four years of high school have gone quickly. We all recall many fond memories of past years.

In the fall of '63 we thirty-five intrepid students, with great expectations, began our freshman year. ZHS was to become the scene of many good times for the next four years.

We "greenies" eagerly joined every club open to us. The "brains" went into the Beta Club. The avid book-lovers became members of the Librarians' Club, while the Audubon Club appealed to the bird watchers and nature lovers. For those school-spirited souls with a penchant for "Cheering the boys on to victory," there was the Pep Club. During the four years students were in and out of the different organizations, sampling the offers of each.

A science club was formed, with several from our class joining. During our junior year, this club became affiliated with "Future Scientists of America," and our scientifically inclined (?) classmates proudly wore the club's pin.

In the sports field our class has been well represented. Six of the boys were active in sports for all or part of the four years.

Volleyball on the girls' side had a larger turn-out. Some girls took part throughout the four years. Others participated for one, two, or three years. In our sophomore year two girls made the cheerleaders' squad. This same year our girls took third place in the O.H.S.C. Tournament. Our girls contributed to the good standing the team made in the tournament.

In the music department several of our class seized the opportunity to exhibit their talents. For the first three years our class furnished members for the band. Others sang in Glee Club, and our class had seven boys whose voices added much to the organization. Two girls were chosen majorettes in their sophomore year.

As time went on, freshmen became sophomores, but only thirty of us found our way back to ZHS. We lost one by marriage, five dropped by the wayside, but two new students moved to take care of part of the loss. Then came our junior year, with twenty-eight of us panting to be jolly juniors, blithe, knowing, happy-go-lucky. This year we gained four, but lost six. Finally the year of years came. In the fall of '66, twenty-eight seniors, undaunted by the ups and downs of procuring an education, returned to begin the long-awaited twelfth year.

Hopefully throughout the first three years, we chose candidates for the honor of being the Ormazd Queen or the Basketball Queen, with their escorts. Disappointed, we saw our candidates lose. But came the fourth year, and our Sheila Howard won both honors. Stan Woodfin escorted her for the Basketball crowning and Danny Hinkle for the Ormazd ceremony.

We remember other honors that came to us through the years. Mary Lou Hinkle was chosen by the student body to represent Zalma in the Sophomore Citizenship Pilgrimage to Jefferson City. She was Zalma's Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1967 because of hers being the highest score on a test of homemaking skills.

In our junior year, with the seniors, we presented our first play, "Who Killed Aunt Caroline," directed by Mr. Shipley. In November of our senior year we gave the play, "Come Out of the Closet." Miss James directed the production of this play.

Now we want to present orchids to those faculty members who gave of their time to pilot us through these four years of stress and strain. Mr. Jackson as our freshman sponsor guided us through that first year. Mr. Hill saw us through our sophomore and junior months. To Mr. Cato and Mrs. Statler has fallen the task of steering us through these last nine months and of taking us on the Florida trip.

We are looking forward to graduation with a mixture of anticipation and regret. Next will come the senior trip to Florida and other points of interest in the South. Our beginning will be ended, and our future awaits.

Last Will and Testament

We the seniors of 1967 being sound in mind and body do grant and bestow our vested rights, privileges, and claims to the high school at Zalma, Missouri, to our heirs, assignees, legatees, donors, and beneficiaries for whatsoever length of time they may spend within its walls.

ARTICLE I. To the faculty we leave the memory of our being the best class to graduate from Zalma High School.

ARTICLE II. To the junior high classes we leave the ruins of the old high school building.

ARTICLE III. To the freshmen we leave the next three years. These will be years in which you must work in order to be graduates of Zalma High School in 1970.

ARTICLE IV. To the sophomores we leave our ability to get along with Mr. Hutchings.

ARTICLE V. To the juniors we leave the ability to live up to our high standards.

ARTICLE VI. Each graduating senior has during his or her years of attendance at Zalma High School accumulated some small legacy which he would like to bestow upon some worthy or luckless person to whom the gratuity may be a windfall. They bequeath as follows:

Ruth Borders	Her ability to make noise to Jackie Hanner.
Edith Cato	Her natural blond hair to Karen Townsend.
John Colbert	His Ford to Jo Morgan.
Shirley Colbert	Her ability to draw to Mr. Howdeshell.
Michael Eaker	His job as senior class president to some unlucky junior.
Kathy Fowler	Her size to Pauletta Tolbert.
Donna Gaither	Her ability to type stencils to Jeanie Kinnison.
Danny Hinkle	His ability to get along with Ruth to Dennis Gilliam.
Mary Hinkle	Her position as Ormazd editor to a lucky junior who gets it.
Sheila Howard	Her making the All-star team to some fortunate junior who deserves it.
Gerry Humphreys	The mouse in the popcorn popper to some unfortunate junior popcorn popper.
Allen Kesselring	His ability to play basketball to Mike Payne.
Sherren Kirkpatrick	All her nicknames to Danny Gowen.
Connie Lasters	Her shorthand ability to Judy Bock.
Lonnie Massey	His ability to play dodgeball to Stanley Teets.
Betty Mayberry	Her regular attendance at school to Sharon Burchett.
Randy Morgan	His slick tires to Mike Hoggard.
Sharon Owens	Her seat in English IV to some unlucky junior.
Sherry Owens	Her short skirts to Mrs. DuVall.
Judy Peters	Her three classes under Mr. Howdeshell to Clemmie Carr.
John Price	His skill at the penball machine to Virgil Moore.
Vernon Shirrell	His drafting skill to Mr. Francis.
Donna Smith	Her hair straightener to Vicki Owens.
Connie Staats	Her shortness to Ruth Hanner.
Dorma Sturgeon	Her mini skirt to Miss James.
Darrell Tolbert	His ability to play basketball to Kenny Huffman.
Belva Welch	Her singing voice to Tyrone Gaither.
